From the President

WENDY WHEELER, President,
Innovation Center for Community
and Youth Development

With the arrival of spring, we're planting seeds for change with some interesting new tools. The latest is 'Come Out Shining,' a short documentary about a group of energetic young people and adults who are working together to improve the decaying school system in Benton Harbor, MI. Their group is one of five funded through the Kellogg Leadership for Community Change (KLCC) project. Click here to check it out.

'Come Out Shining' is the first of several new tools and resources that explore the lessons learned through KLCC. Look for lots more in the next several months.

As always, we'd love to hear your comments about the documentary.

Spring Sale

Our Building Community: A Tool for Youth and Adults in Charting Assets and Creating Change tool kit is now 25% off! This 234 page facilitator's handbook is filled with concrete activities and real-life case studies. It provides practical information about creating youth-adult partnerships, mapping assets, creating community visions and plans, and mobilizing local change.
